DR. BONE ANNOUNCES CAMPAIGN FOR STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

(Round Rock, TX) – Dr. Mary Bone of Round Rock announced her run for the Texas State Board of Education (SBOE), District 10, today. The district stretches across 27 counties including Williamson, Bell, Comal, and Brazos. Dr. Bone was elected in November 2020 to the Round Rock ISD Board of Trustees, the 21st largest school district in Texas, where she still serves. She and her husband, Jason, have two children that attend public schools.

“I am honored and excited to announce my campaign for Texas SBOE,” said Bone. “My four priorities are to fight for parental rights, improve student achievement, restore fiscal responsibility, and finally end the destructive woke culture. I have unapologetically fought for these conservative priorities on the Round Rock ISD school board and have the scars to prove it. It’s time that SBOE District 10 be represented by a motivated and loving parent who understands the urgency to return our schools to places parents and communities can trust. The future of Texas and America depends on our schools educating, not indoctrinating, the next generation.”

As a Round Rock ISD trustee, Dr. Bone boldly confronted significant issues that impact students, families, teachers, and taxpayers. Her voting record demonstrates a fearless commitment to reopen schools, empower parents to make medical and academic decisions for their children, address the overworking of teachers and stop the out-of-control spending on administrative bloat and waste. “My record on the Round Rock school board combined with my professional experience in developing complex systems makes me uniquely qualified to serve on the Texas SBOE. I am eager to join the other conservative SBOE members from around the state to make Texas number one in education in the US. Furthermore, my experience as an educator myself in higher education brings a real world understanding to the reforms needed to return the teaching profession to its meaningful roots, educating all children for a bright future.”

Despite the billions of taxpayer dollars sent to Texas public schools every year, data reveals that student academic performance has only declined. Bone said, “This represents a tremendous threat to the future of Texas. Now more than ever, the SBOE members must work together and exercise the SBOE’s lawful powers and duties to reverse these devastating educational trends. Time is running out for Texas students and families. `` Dr. Bone is challenging 12-year incumbent, Tom Maynard of Florence, in the March 2024 primary.
